

Crack the Canteen Code

In Ten Minutes of Home, Riley and Noah hear about ladies who took turns feeding the troops who passed through their town in Nebraska on trains during World War II. Did you know that's based on a true story?

Around North Platte, Nebraska, families saved their ration stamps and when their day to serve was coming up, they baked like crazy, gathered eggs and chickens, collected fruit, ground pork and beef from their farms to make sandwiches, and much more. Items in the code below are some of the items they served.

The real North Platte Canteen in Nebraska was _____ every single _____ for 51 months, from December, 1941 to April, 1946.

There were 55,000 _____ from 125 towns, _____
working together and taking turns to meet

18-24 _____ each day.

By working together they _____ snacks and hope to 3,000-5,000 troops

every day. That's six million troops in all!
